Smart Looking--

She would be called—the woman who wears extreme clothes; she is also the type of woman who can, but she has no figure deficiencies to mar the effect of her clothes. The shaping of her figure is of prime importance—she wears good corsets, the best she can buy—and this is what every woman should do.

Buy the Best

—the best does not always mean the highest priced—but the best corset for your figure—a corset with a name that is worth something—a name with a record—not an unknown corset, but one that the maker stamps with his mark, a corset that will stand the test of time—a name that, when passed down in history, has stood for the best corset of the period. Such a corset is WARNER'S. We have a large assortment at all prices, $1.00 to $5.00.

AGAINST REPAIRS FOR COURTHOUSE

REV. E. C. CALDWELL MADE PROFESSOR

Three Delegations Will Appear Before Chesterfield Board of Supervisors To-Day.

Strong protests against the present expenditure of money on the county buildings at Chesterfield, Courthouse will be made this morning when the Board of Supervisors holds its monthly meeting. Delegations from three widely separated sections of Chesterfield County will appear to voice the sentiment of the communities they represent.

The meeting of the board is particularly for the purpose of fixing the school levy for the year. Increases in practically every district of the county are necessary to carry out the improvements being contemplated. The auditor districts are opposed to any increase, but those bordering on the railroads and anxious to bring the schools up to the high standard of efficiency, and a number of buildings are to be erected next year.

After the board acts on the school levy, the question of awarding contracts for repairs on the county buildings office and county jail will be taken up. The board has already made an appropriation of $2000 to cover the cost of the work, which is admitted to be imperative. A more, however, is on foot to have a special election called for the purpose of voting on the removal of the county seat to a convenient point on the railroad.

Believing that an expenditure of such a question is better anticipated would be to prevent the non-Air Citizens Association will protest against the awarding of money to the Chesterfield Board of Supervisors. The Chesterfield Board of Supervisors is planning with the action of the board, and making a strong bid for the honor. A committee is now circulating a petition asking Judge Robert C. Southall to order a special election to find the sentiment of the voters on the removal proposition.

Texas Minister Elected to Chair in Union Theological Seminary.

Rev. Eugene Craighead Caldwell, D. D., now a professor in the Presbyterian Theological Seminary at Austin, Texas, has been elected to a professorship in Union Theological Seminary. He will have the chair of Hebrew and Old Testament Interpretation, endowed by Cyrus McCormick of Chicago.

Ever since the death of Rev. Givens Strickler, D. D., professor of theology, the board of trustees of Union Theological Seminary in Virginia has made a careful search for the right man, and after months of deliberation, at a meeting held in Richmond last week, filled the vacancy.

At a meeting last summer the board transferred Rev. Thomas Cary Johnson, D. D., from the chair of church history to that of theology, a meeting held by Dr. Strickler. At a meeting last week the board transferred Rev. W. L. Lamb, D. D., from the professorship of Old Testament to that of church history. Dr. Lamb has been teaching a senior class in church history during this semester. In addition to his other work, and has been with much marked success as a publicist, and to the directors that he was the man for that chair.

Dr. Caldwell, who is expected to come to the seminary at the beginning of the next session as McCormick professor of Hebrew and Old Testament Interpretation, now holds a similar position at the seminary at Austin. He was born in South Carolina, and was educated at Hampton-Sitney College. He was a member of the Southern Baptist Convention at Charleston, S. C., and entered Union Seminary in 1891, and graduated in 1894, making such a brilliant record that he was awarded the Moses H. Hays Fellowship, the highest distinction within the gift of the institution. Under this fellowship he spent another year at the seminary in post-graduate study. He was for two years pastor at Leesville, N. C., and for seven years has been with the Austin Theological Seminary. In addition to his work as a teacher, he is said to be a preacher of marked ability, having frequently conducted special services and preached in the open air to large congregations where no church building was available.

Annually-Held Marriage.
With only members of the immediate family present, Miss Jessie Robinson, daughter of Mrs. Mary Robinson, was married last night at 9 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Taylor, 1122 Hill Street, to William W. Taylor, Jr., who was officiated by Rev. C. W. McElroy, pastor of the Southern Baptist Church. Mrs. Robinson will make their home in South Richmond.

Foreigners Seek Naturalization.
The board of appeals for naturalization will be held upon by Judge Edmund W. Smith, Jr., of the United States District Court, on Wednesday morning. Seven countries are represented by the applicants.

RICHMOND WANTS REUNION IN 1915

Lee Camp Will Officially Extend Invitation to Confederate Veterans
Next Month.

BIG JACKSONVILLE PARTY

Local Delegation Will Leave
With Other Camps on Night of May 4.

When R. E. Lee Camp, No. 1, United Confederate Veterans, goes to Jacksonville early next month to attend the twenty-fourth annual reunion, Richmond will be boosted for the 1915 gathering of the fast disappearing band of heroes. The whole state will unite in the invitation.

The local camp has appointed thirteen delegates and thirteen alternates for the reunion, but many others will make the trip, which at this season of the year will be delightful. With the Sons of Confederate Veterans, staff officers, maids and sponsors, the party from this city will number about 100. The reunion will be held on May 6 to 8 inclusive, and in order to be on the ground for the first meeting, the Richmond delegation will leave here on Monday night, May 4, over the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad. It will reach Jacksonville the following afternoon, and will be comfortably installed in its quarters before the reunion is officially opened.

Traveling with the members of the camp and the delegates will be General J. Thompson Brown, commander of the Virginia Division, and his staff, and General W. B. Freeman, commander of the First Virginia Brigade, and his staff. The division maid of honor and sponsor will be Miss George E. Pickett Camp, of Richmond; and other Virginia delegations will go on the same train.

To Be Well Entertained.
It is Jacksonville's ambition to break all reunion records in point of attendance and entertainment, and elaborate preparations are being made to honor the survivors of the Confederate army, their descendants and friends. In addition to the many attractions of Jacksonville itself, there are numerous points of interest which can be visited with convenience.

Lee Camp has invited the Richmond Howiters to act as its escort at the reunion, and Jacksonville has cordially seconded the invitation. The local artillerymen will be a feature of the parade at the reunion. The Florida delegation repeatedly waited upon Captain W. M. Myers and urged him to bring his command. This was declined, but the question under consideration, but it is hardly possible that it will make the trip on account of the summer maneuvers, which will take place in August.

Lee Camp will be away about one week, but will make no stops either going or returning. The tickets will be held by the local Howiters. Individual members are at liberty to take advantage of this if they so desire.

Lee Camp Delegates.
The official representation of Lee Camp follows:

Delegates—J. Thompson Brown, J. Taylor Johnson, W. B. Freeman, E. D. Taylor, J. Taylor Stratten, John Lamb, W. B. Lightfoot, W. R. Hall, James H. Eubank, John Owen, W. B. Wood, J. W. Farrar, J. H. Brewer, J. C. Robinson, E. D. Gibbs.

Alternates—J. L. Robinson, George T. Johnson, H. R. South, C. Wrenn, W. B. Lightfoot, W. R. Hall, James H. Eubank, John Owen, W. B. Wood, J. W. Farrar, J. H. Brewer, J. C. Robinson, E. D. Gibbs.

Measurements for the new full dress uniforms were taken two weeks ago, and the fittings will be made next week. The delivery of the finished uniforms will be made in ample time for the opening of the new building.

MEET HERE TO-DAY TO TAKE UP WORK

Tax Commission Members Ready to Begin Duties Ordered by Legislature.

Notices have been received from all members of the State Tax Commission that they expect to be present at the organization meeting in the courtroom of the State Corporation Commission this morning at 10 o'clock. As there was no way provided in the act for calling the initial meeting, the two local members, Senator Harman and Delegate Montague, after consultation with the Governor, issued invitations to all the members to meet here to-day. Delegate John W. Chalkley had important business which it was thought would prevent his attendance, but he telegraphed on Saturday that he would be here for the meeting this morning, even if he might have to return to the Southwest in a day or two. Realizing that the business of the tax commission will take practically all of their time from now until November 1, when the report is to be made to the Governor, members of the commission are endeavoring as far as possible to arrange their personal affairs and dispose of business matters. The meeting to-day, it is anticipated, will be merely for organization purposes. A chairman and secretary will be elected, some provision made for organizing office forces, and the commission will adjourn to some later day when actual work on the compilation of data will begin.

Dr. Caldwell, who is expected to come to the seminary at the beginning of the next session as McCormick professor of Hebrew and Old Testament Interpretation, now holds a similar position at the seminary at Austin. MAKE PLANS FOR FORMAL OPENING

Richmond Grays' Battalion Will Celebrate Completion of New Armory on May 29.

ISSUE 3,000 INVITATIONS

Big Military Demonstration Will Bring Noted Guests From North as Well as South.

Arrangements for the big military demonstration which will mark the formal opening of the new armory of the Richmond Grays Battalion, First Infantry, have been completed, and May 29 has been decided upon for the affair. Invitations will be sent out this week, and it is expected that more than 3,000 out-of-town guests will be present.

Major Lawrence T. Price, battalion commander, is now working on the details of the opening. The new full dress uniforms of Confederate gray will be here, and the ceremonies will open with a short battalion drill, which will end with some spectacular feature. Then will follow the presentation of a large silver cup to the company in the best condition, and of medals to the best drilled man in the battalion, and to the one bringing in the largest number of recruits in the past year.

A reception will follow the presentation. Among those who will be present are General J. Thompson Brown, and Mrs. Henry C. Stuart, General and Mrs. W. W. Sale, Mayor and Mrs. George Ainslie, Captain and Mrs. C. A. Crawford and Major and Mrs. L. A. Price. The 100th Regiment of Philadelphia, composed of seventy members, will be here in full dress uniform. The Seventh New York Regiment, the Fifth Maryland Regiment, and a company at Winchester, Va., are expected to be present. They will send a representation, and it is expected that practically all Virginia companies will either attend as a whole or will send representatives. All local organizations are expected to take a prominent part in the affair.

Old Guard to Attend.
Invitations will be sent to military organizations to the North as well as the South. It has already been ascertained that the 100th Regiment of Philadelphia, composed of seventy members, will be here in full dress uniform. The Seventh New York Regiment, the Fifth Maryland Regiment, and a company at Winchester, Va., are expected to be present. They will send a representation, and it is expected that practically all Virginia companies will either attend as a whole or will send representatives. All local organizations are expected to take a prominent part in the affair.

With the large silver cup offered by Major Price as an incentive, each of the four companies of the battalion will be working hard to prepare for the opening. The annual inspection by the government will be made on April 27 and 28, and special instruction is being given the companies on their drill nights this month by a regular army sergeant detailed for that purpose. He is also conducting a school of instruction for non-commissioned officers and selected privates each night. On May 11 the battalion will turn out in the Oakwood memorial parade. A battalion drill will be held on May 29, and the formal opening of the new building will be followed by the Oakwood memorial parade the next day. Battalion officers will leave on June 1 to spend one week in camp at Fredericksburg.

Measurements for the new full dress uniforms were taken two weeks ago, and the fittings will be made next week. The delivery of the finished uniforms will be made in ample time for the opening of the new building.

Meade Memorial Shows Its Appreciation of Work Done by Mr. Scott.
At a meeting of the vestry of the Meade Memorial Episcopal Church, South Richmond, after the morning service yesterday, presented Rev. John A. Scott with a handsome gold cross. The presentation came as a complete surprise to Mr. Scott, who has gratuitously supplied the pulpit since the resignation of Rev. F. Ernest Warren about six months ago.

A special service will be held in the church on Wednesday night by Rev. Thomas Semmes, of Covington, after which a meeting of the vestry will be held. Efforts are being made by the vestry to have Mr. Semmes accept a call here, but he has not yet acted upon the invitation. While he is here the overtures will be renewed, and the congregation is very anxious to have him favorably consider its proposition.

The need of a rector is keenly felt by the congregation at the time, as plans for the erection of a new church start before Mr. Warren's resignation, have not progressed far, although an excellent site was purchased for the new building. Mr. Semmes has been of great assistance to the church by occupying the pulpit, but will not consider the rectorship, on account of his personal affairs.

The annual meeting of the congregation of Meade Memorial, as well as a number of other Episcopal churches in the city, will be held to-day and to-morrow for the purpose of electing vestrymen for the ensuing year. A brief service will be held, and following the service, a social session will be held in the robing room of the Southside church.

ENTER HOSPITAL AS VOLUNTEERS

Two Men Offer Skin for Grafting
Operation to Help Save
Life of Trice.

MANY OTHERS READY TO AID

Volunteer in Another Case Says
Spirit of Humanity Should Appeal to All.

Skin from two men will be engrafted today on J. B. Trice, a patient since December 12 in Memorial Hospital, and after this other operations will be performed at intervals, until the patient has been sufficiently supplied with the needed tissue.

Five or six men, it was stated yesterday, have offered to give skin to Mr. Trice, and two of the volunteers who were accepted entered the hospital yesterday for engraftment. A telegram of notice will be taken from their thighs and implanted on the burned surface of Mr. Trice's body. The operation is not dangerous, and often the patient from whom the fresh supply is taken is able to leave the hospital in a day or two.

In skin grafting only the outer layer of skin is taken. Sometimes it fails to "take" and the operation has to be repeated. If successfully implanted, the new layers gradually grow together, and the foreign skin becomes part of the physical structure of the body on which it has been engrafted.

Mr. Trice, it was stated yesterday, has much improved during the last month, and if the skin-grafting operation continues to be successful, as they have been, he will recover. But it will be six months or a year before he will be able to leave the hospital.

Once a Volunteer.

George A. Jackson, Jr., sales manager of a Western supply house, who is at Gilbert's Hotel, said yesterday that he once volunteered for a skin-grafting operation that saved a boy's life. He did so without any being actuated solely by a feeling of sympathy.

"As one who has been a volunteer and given fifty-four inches of skin for the healing of a similar burn, I am amazed to read that two small boys, not yet in their teens, have twice gone under the knife to aid him," said Mr. Jackson. "This was a reference to his own sons. Any one who has been through such an experience can appreciate the love for their father and the sacrifice they have made for his recovery."

"In the case in which I was a volunteer, there were forty responses to the call, ten were selected, and the skin was taken from four of us, each giving about fifty inches. The patient was a boy of six years, the immediate family had all been operated on to save his life, and in the second operation, which resulted in his complete recovery, the volunteers were nearly all strangers to the family."

"The facts are that the operation is painful, but not any more painful for fifty inches than for twenty-five, that the volunteer will be sore and inconvenienced in getting around for a week or two. That's the cost. The reward is that sense of satisfaction in having done a humane, unselfish, impersonal, worthy act, and in the knowledge that when you have given yourself a 'bad test' you have placed a desire to be truly helpful above every other consideration."

"Surely there should be plenty of responses to this call—enough to permit the physicians to make a selection from a large number and to use those who would be the least inconvenienced in their necessary work, and who are best qualified by nature to make the sacrifice."

From early childhood—although I was born in Kansas—my parents frequently referred to their parents, tracing it back to Kentucky and Virginia, and in a way that gave me a sense of pride in my connection with the State that has given the nation so many noble men. Surely there is enough responsive manhood here to give Mr. Trice an immediate relief without monetary cost and without further call on his little boys."

House Entered and Robbed.
Miss Sally Morgan, of 1102 East Clay Street, reported to the police yesterday that her home was entered through a rear window and a quantity of property, including kitchen utensils, besides three dresses, stolen.

FEDERAL OFFICES AWAIT NEW HEADS

Moncure and Saunders Have Not Received Commissions—No Immediate Changes Expected.

Commissions have not yet been issued for Virginians whose appointments to Federal offices were confirmed early last week by the Senate. Only two local offices will be affected by the new appointments, but the changes are awaited with interest. Both R. L. C. Moncure, who becomes collector of internal revenue, and John G. Saunders, the new United States marshal, have a number of appointments at their command.

It is not believed that many changes in either office will be made at once, as it would be almost impossible to carry on the routine with a new force. Under the law, the present deputies can be appointed for a thirty-day term, after which they can be relieved in favor of new appointments.

Mr. Saunders, who is sergeant of the United States Court, Part II, is not expected to take up his new duties until after the present term of the United States District Court, which is now in session. He will permit the incumbent to finish the work now on hand, in order that he can start with a fresh mind, but he is actively studying his duties, and expects to familiarize himself with the routine before he takes the oath of office.

No announcement has been made by Mr. Moncure concerning his plans. M. K. Lowry, the present collector, has not been notified when his successor will qualify. He has gathered around him an efficient office staff, and no immediate changes are expected. One of the first duties of the new collector will be to name a successor to the late W. C. Gwathney, deputy collector under the income tax appropriation.

A vigorous, but quiet, campaign is being carried on in South Richmond by four candidates, who wish to succeed Sergeant Saunders. Upon his resignation, Judge Ernest H. Wells will appoint a successor. J. T. Willard, George Jones, G. W. Blankenship and W. E. Fergusson are applicants.

ALLEGED FUGITIVE FROM FLORIDA CITY

Jacksonville Authorities Hold
Warrants Charging H. A.
Grant With Embezzlement.

WILL FIGHT EXTRADITION

Accused Man, Caught Here,
Claims It Is Trick to Get Him Back in Civil Case.

H. A. Grant, thirty-five years old, an electrician, was arrested yesterday by Detective-Sergeants Wiltshire and Bailey on the charge of being a fugitive from justice in Jacksonville, Fla., where he is said to be wanted on charges of embezzlement. A telegram to Chief of Police Warner stated that the Jacksonville authorities held two warrants for Grant.

Grant was found at 411 East Grace street, where he had been boarding for about two months. He was only recently joined by his wife. He expressed surprise at his arrest, and at first said that he was willing to return, declaring that he had done nothing wrong, and that the charges against him grew out of a case involved in the civil courts.

Judge D. C. Richardson, of the Hustings Court, gave permission to Magistrate J. A. Purdie to release Grant under $500 bond for his appearance in Police Court. Security was furnished by Captain E. K. Grady.

To Fight Extradition.
Immediately after he was released Grant telegraphed to his lawyer in Jacksonville. A prompt reply instructed him to fight extradition to Florida, adding that the warrants against him had been sworn out by the State in order to get him back into that State for the purpose of serving him with civil papers. Following this information Grant announced his determination to fight extradition. No word was received by the local police from the Jacksonville authorities last night.

Grant told Wiltshire and Bailey that for three years he was engaged in business in Jacksonville with two partners. They failed, he said, and creditors threw the firm into the hands of receivers and the usual court proceedings followed. They were still pending when he came to Richmond, and he said that his present difficulty is the result of that affair. He came here and secured a good position with the American Locomotive Company. He said that another reason why he did not return to Jacksonville was that he, of course, did not want to lose his place.

If papers are issued by Governor Trammell for the return of Grant it is expected that he will retain local counsel and fight extradition.

DON'T REPORT DEATH

Negro Dies on Friday and Coroner Taylor Hears of It Last Night.

Though he was fatally hurt on Friday, and died that night, Coroner Taylor did not learn of the death of an unidentified negro man until last night, when he was notified by A. W. Bennett, an undertaker.

Dr. Taylor directed that the body be turned over to A. D. Price, a negro undertaker, of 216 East Leigh Street, where it will be held in the morgue for several days, with the hope that it may be identified.

The negro was struck by a train of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad in the Acca yards. He was found unconscious, being a free man and was brought to the Retreat for the Sick. Examination by Dr. W. T. Oppenheimer showed that the man's head was crushed. He died without regaining consciousness. Dr. Oppenheimer said last night that he told the undertaker that it was a case which should be reported to the coroner. Why this was not done at once is not known.

Dr. Oppenheimer said that, as far as he knew, no one knew the details of the accident.

To Address Suffrage League.
Miss Elizabeth E. Webb, who applies the Hinet test to children of the public schools in order to determine the grade to which they properly belong, will speak at the headquarters of the Equal Suffrage League, 414 Virginia on Thursday afternoon at 4:30 in the morning. She will tell of the work she is doing for the public school children.

Miss Corale Johnston, one of the visiting school nurses, who has very intimate knowledge of child life in Richmond, will speak at the same place on the health conditions as she has found them in the Richmond schools.

WENDENBURG MAY OPPOSE MONTAGUE

Has Taken Under Consideration
Advice of Friends Urging Him to Run.

WILL DECIDE BY TUESDAY

Rivalry for Third District Congressional Seat Would Produce Live Campaign.

"I am being earnestly urged by my friends to announce myself as a candidate for election to the House of Representatives from this district," said State Senator Louis O. Wendenburg last night. "And I have taken the matter under serious consideration. I have until next Wednesday to make up my mind, and I may decide to run."

Mr. Wendenburg made this statement to The Times-Dispatch after his attention had been called to conflicting rumors that have gained circulation touching his possible candidacy. In previous interviews Mr. Wendenburg has assumed a more or less noncommittal attitude, and his difference on the subject was commonly taken to mean that he was not seriously thinking of entering the race. His statement in this paper last night would appear to support an opposite inference.

Under the rule adopted two weeks ago by the Third Congressional District Democratic Committee fixing the congressional primary for June 15, Mr. Wendenburg has until 12 o'clock noon on Wednesday to file notice of his candidacy with Secretary E. L. C. Scott, of the committee. The filing must have until that time also to deposit with State Treasurer Harman the 5 per cent candidacy fee required by the State law.

Expected No Opposition.
Until a week ago it was taken for granted by Third District politicians that Congressman Andrew Jackson Montague, the incumbent, would have no opposition for re-election. He was elected in 1912, defeating by a substantial majority Congressman John Lamb, who had represented this district in the lower house of Congress for a number of years.

The entrance of Mr. Wendenburg in the race would admittedly complicate the situation. As State Senator for two terms, and as attorney in several cases of first importance, Mr. Wendenburg has acquired a reputation which has traveled far beyond the confines of the Third Congressional District. Those who know him predict that he will make an aggressive campaign, once he
